Dog sale agreement

A record of the sale and handover of a dog between two private people: not for breeders, pet shops or other businesses.

A sample form, not legal advice. Laws on selling animals differ by country, state and city: check what applies where you live.

Dog sale agreement

Dog's name _____

Price and handover

Price (amount and currency) _____ Paid by (cash, transfer, other) _____ Price received in full: seller's initials _____

Date of handover _____ Time _____ Place (address) _____

What we agree

1. The seller sells the dog described above to the buyer for the price stated, hands it over and passes ownership to the buyer. The buyer pays the price and takes the dog.
2. The seller confirms that the dog is theirs to sell and that no one else has a claim to it.
3. The seller has described the dog's health above as far as they know it.
4. From the handover, the buyer is responsible for the dog's care and its costs.

Condition (tick one)

- ☐ Sold as is: the buyer has seen the dog and takes it in its present condition.
- ☐ Not sold as is: the buyer keeps whatever rights the law where we live gives them.

Other agreements

Anything else we agree on, in our own words

Signatures

Signed at (place) _____ Date _____

Seller's signature _____ Buyer's signature _____

After the handover (for the buyer, not part of the agreement)

- ☐ Microchip registration moved to the buyer's name
- ☐ Dog license updated, where your town requires one
- ☐ Vet records sent to the buyer's vet
- ☐ Pet insurance moved or taken out
