

Dog seizure log

Each seizure: when, how long, and what happened before, during and after. Bring it and any videos to your vet.

Ask your vet when to call them and when to go to an emergency clinic, and write it below. This log doesn't replace that advice.

Your dog

Name	Breed and age
Vet	Clinic phone
Emergency clinic	Emergency clinic phone

What your vet told you

When to call the vet

When to go to an emergency clinic

Regular medicines and times (as prescribed)

Seizure log

Date	Time	How long (timed)	Before: what was happening	During: what you saw	After: how long until normal	Medicine, video, notes

Dog seizure log

Name _____

Seizure log, continued

How to fill it in

- Time it if you can: look at a clock or start a timer. A timed length is worth more than a guess.
- Film it if it's safe to do so, and note in the last column that there is a video.
- Before: sleep, meals, a missed dose, exercise, visitors, anything new. During: what moved and whether your dog seemed aware of you.
- After: how long until your dog was back to normal, and what you saw in that time.
- Medicine: only as your vet prescribed it, with the time. Whenever you are worried, call your vet or an emergency clinic.

Pettify keeps notes, photos and videos on your dog's timeline and reminds you of medicine, and the PDF report can be shared with your vet.

Owner's personal record, not a veterinary document. It doesn't say what is normal or when to seek care: your vet does.

App Store