

Dog training log

Goals, the cue words everyone uses, and every session: what, where, how it went and what's next.

Reward the behavior you want with treats, toys or praise: AVSAB recommends reward-based methods for all dog training.

Your dog

Name

Age

Trainer or class

Phone

Goals and cues

Goal 1

Goal 2

Goal 3

Cue words and hand signals we all use

Training sessions

Date	Skill or cue	Minutes	Where, distractions	Successes / tries	Reward	Next small step

Name

■ Training sessions, continued

How to use it

- Fill in a row right after each session, while it's fresh.
- Count successes out of tries, such as 7 / 10, to see progress on slow days.
- Note the place and the distractions: a new place makes a known cue harder again.
- Write the reward that worked best and one small next step. If a behavior worries you, ask your vet.

In Pettify, training is one of the activities you log for your dog, with its duration, next to walks, runs and play.
Owner's personal record. For sudden changes in behavior, fear or aggression, ask your vet first.

App Store